HAMMOND intends to make Southern Lake Michigan the greatest waterfront in the world. Keeping this project in mind THE DUNES Staff decided to make this the theme of the book.

E D I C A T I O N

M. PHILLIP

WITH sincerity
in our thoughts and reverence in our hearts, we, THE DUNES Staff, dedicate this edition of
THE DUNES to Mr.
Ralph G. Rupp, our
Assistant Principal.

Edna Boardway

TO the memory of her who was so unexpectedly taken from our midst, December
seventh, nineteen hundred and twenty-six,
and whose loss has been so deeply felt by us, we respectfully dedicate
this page.

THE SCHOOL

L. L. CALDWELL

Superintendent L. L. Caldwell was graduated from Simpson College, Iowa, and then attended the Iowa Teachers' College and the University of Chicago. He has shown unusual interest in all our school activities and if he is not attending an educational conference, you will always find him at the contests.

A. L. SPOHN

Principal A. L. Spohn is a graduate of Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana. He has since taken extra work at the University of Chicago. His faithful guidance and interest in school activities have helped to make the students his friends. His willingness to advise and co-operate has won our highest esteem. He is keenly interested in the High School Association and has done his best to further its progress.

MR. WOLF

MR. BERCAW

Board of Education

The Board of Education of the Hammond Public Schools is composed of three members: Mr. G. J. Wolf, Mr. W. N. Bercaw, and Dr. G. L. Smith. Mr. L. L. Caldwell, Superintendent of Schools, is the executive member of the board.

Through these men as its representatives, the City of Hammond maintains and improves its schools. The Board of Education provides our material equipment and decides important questions of school policy and administration.

FAST MOVING ERIE FREIGHT HITS MACHINE

Mr. and Mrs. Matthies and Two Children Hurt

A car driven by Roland Matthies was hit by an Erie train at the Highland St. crossing this morning when the crossing watchman forgot to lower the gate to warn the approaching car.

In the auto with Mr. Matthies were two children and Mrs. Dorothy Minas Matthies, his wife. The Ford was hit at the front and the occupants were severely bruised and shaken.

The watchman, Raymond Brock, was taken into custody by Officers Bolch and Grindie. Lloyd Merrill, the engineer, Mr. Matthies, Miss Louise Cornwell, a passenger on the train, and Harry LeRoy, a student at Hammond High School, were witnesses of the accident and will appear at the trial of Watchman Brock.

EVANGELIST PREDICTS END OF WORLD SOON

Yesterday, after careful observation, Steve Ban, a noted evangelist, made known his startling discovery that the world was coming to an end on Friday, August 13, 1947. Mr. Ban has already disposed of all his property and sincerely advises every one else to do the same. He plans to read his own funeral service the day before.

ARMY CAPTAIN GETS APPOINT- MENT HERE

Captain John McCartin, a recent graduate of the Salvation Army Training School, will take charge of the reforming and cleansing of Hammond. He expects to take up his duties the first of next month.

THE PET Condensed News

Anna Gachos, world-famed critic, has just received for publication her latest book, "Bosh on Bernard," which is a severe criticism of George Bernard Shaw. In her masterpiece Miss Gachos wholly disproves dumb pastimes.

Friends of Miss Margaret Geyer, known throughout the county as the world's most talented astronomer, might be glad to know that she has just discovered a new star which she has named Calumet City because it's all lit up.

Miss Edna Campbell has withdrawn from school to work in a soup factory. She has just discovered that most soup has only two ingredients—soup and more soup.

Miss Mayhelle Dietrich's property holdings have been estimated to approach 1,000,000,000,000,000 marks. Her income tax alone amounts to the fabulous sum of 13 marks. Her lady in waiting, Sylvia Tanis, EXTRA!

Ervin Marx was found dead this morning with a bullet through his chest. Suspicion leads to the theory that his sweetheart, Elizabeth Mead, shot him when he was seen with another girl.

CIRCUS TO BE IN CITY SOON

Former Hammond Clowns Will Perform

The Yankee Circus which is a consolidation of three nationally known circuses will arrive in Hammond next week, bringing with it several former Hammond citizens who are performers.

This is the largest circus which will have been in Hammond in the history of the town.

Some of the stars who are returning to perform for their home town are: Victor (Pirate) Hofmann, the strong man who picks his teeth with a crowbar, and Miss Alice Keister, the wonder lion tamer. Miss Keister is the only woman who has been bold enough to train lions to carry her in their jaws. Jack Bachman, also formerly of Hammond, is the leader of the band of clowns with the circus. It is Jack who is at the center of all the laughs.

Extra accommodations are being made for the large crowd which is expected. The circus will give its performances in the new Coliseum, north of the Calumet River on Calumet Avenue.

BLAZE RAZES ENTIRE BLOCK IN HAMMOND

Many Leading Concerns of City Wiped Out

Early this morning fire wiped out the entire block between the Nickel Plate tracks elevation and Oakley and Sibley and State Streets. The fire was started by the carelessness of Alvin Jurgens, it is believed. The loss is estimated at $2,000,000. The entire new stock of Donald Pease's Shoe Shining Pavilion was lost.

Because of the large flames being whipped around by the wind the entire city fire department had to be called out. Chief Bomberger states that if a fire had started in any other part of the city the whole city would have been threatened.

Miss Evelyn Eastridge, cashier of the Shoe Pavilion, was saved by the quick, heroic action of Leo McKesson, a fireman. The girl was seen through the window from the street her peril, crawled to her and dragged her to safety just a minute before the floor caved in.

A suit for damages has been filed in the county court against Alvin Jurgens for the amount of $500,000 by Thomas McLean, manager of the Devo 5 to 50c store.

Mayor Marvin Anderson hopes that these fire hazards will be cleaned up in the spring inspection.

Louise Brehmer Be- comes a Fly

Louise K.L.B.N. Brehmer recently deserted her trade as forewoman of a flypaper chemical shop to become the only female of the fair sex to scale dangerous walls for a living. She claims the profession has come down with the family for thousands of years and that she cannot disregard its call. This morning, in an interesting exhibition, Miss Brehmer succeeded, after many falls and failures, in scaling the dizzy heights of the Hammond High School and the new South Side Library. When the twelfth story of the Y. M. C. A. building had been reached some little Tech student had to yell out, "Don't give up the grip," which made Louise giggle so that she lost her balance and came floating down to the sidewalk where she slapped his face, thus showing the superiority of H. H. S. students to those of Tech.

Tonight she will try the unheard of. She will attempt to conquer the dizzy heights of the city hall and from there jump across to the elevated railroads with one eye blind-folded and one leg tied behind her.

Roller skating is fast becoming recognized as the most popular method of travel. The public is realizing that the advantage of skating far surpasses those of travel by automobile or train. Now the automobile salesmen have made over part of their rooms to a skate sales department. Some of the largest manufacturing concerns are even furnishing them with the cars. Many is the time that a person wished he had skates to go after gas when the car was stalled a couple of miles from the nearest filling station. The sensible American citizen uses skates for several reasons, because they develop the body physically and they are safer. Then it is cheaper for a boy to entertain a girl because she usually has her own rollers. Mechanically the skates are more perfect than the auto and they can be repaired at home. Within the next few years skates will replace the autos to such an extent that they will be used for trucks only.

MRS. ALICE WEBBER DIVORCES HUSBAND

Charges Mate with Non-support in Suit

Mrs. Alice Webber, formerly Miss Alice Bohling of Hammond, filed suit for divorce in the Lake County court against her husband Robert Webber. She charges him with non-support.

The trial will take place at the County court house in Crown Point. Mr. George DeHaven, attorney for Mrs. Webber, has obtained witnesses to testify that Mrs. Webber had to go so far as to borrow the salt and pepper with which to do her cooking. The witnesses are Elizabeth Soos, Mary Nemeth, Madeline Heckler, Anna Medivid and Harry Lewis.

Gale Towle, attorney for Mr. Webber, will attempt to prove to the jury that Mr. Webber is not guilty of such an act. Judge Clarence Covault will preside at the trial.

JOHNSON BILL BANS MARRIAGE

The Johnson house bill No. 1,100,567,000 has just come up for discussion in the state legislature today. The bill places restrictions on all children under 5 years of age. It states that people under 5 cannot get married and they shall also be barred from all public roadhouses and must be off the streets by 2 A. M. unless accompanied by a girl of about the same age. Lee Johnson, the author of this bill, has two fighting senators, Miss Anna Gursansky and Miss Louise Cosgrove, to uphold the bill in the Senate while he and Leo Levin expect to talk the bill through the House of Representatives. The public's opinion on the bill will be appreciated by Mr. Johnson.

BEAUTY HINTS

Conducted by Miss Winona Williamson

Dear Miss Williamson:

Give me a recipe for getting a schoolgirl complexion. —Genevieve Rybarczyk.

Answer:
Write the Hammond Dairy for a sample of their cream. Also the Sherwin-Williams Paint Co. is turning out commendable cosmetics. Then a coat of Val-spar will make it permanent.

Dear Miss Williamson:

Can you give me some health exercises? —Marie Spohnholtz.

Answer:
Engage actively in the vigorous sport of bridge and checkers, also tiddley-winks will develop the desired muscles.

Dear Miss Williamson:

I have a severe case of fallen eyelashes. What can I do to cure this? —Rose Swenko.

Answer:
Wink at all the good looking boys on the street.

Dear Miss Williamson:

Can you give me some reducing exercises that will do the required work without the use of the insane asylum? —Hazel Wills.

Answer:
When you get up at 4:00 A. M. run four miles at top speed. Then take a dip and swim two miles. When that is finished eat a breakfast of one egg. Then take a ten-mile hike thru the country, climbing hills and mountains if possible. Then eat no lunch and spend from 4:00 to 6:00 P. M. in the gym with the punching bag and medicine ball. A supper of two thin pieces of bread with jelly is sufficient. After supper engage in sports with the neighborhood children and retire at 12:00. Keep up this exercising for five years. If you are not thin by this time double the recipe.

AMONG THE HUNDRED SIXTY

(Taken from the Macroon's Notebook)

Last evening was the event of one of the loveliest weddings of the season, when Miss Mildred Dysart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dysart of South Hohman Street, was married to Mr. John Papuga of Columbia Avenue. The wedding was held at the bride's home at the hour of four. The wedding march was played by Miss Bernice McGlinchey. The bride was escorted by her father, and by the bridesmaids, Miss Hattie Keller and Miss Thelma Kirk. Miss Dysart was dressed in a white satin gown with a large corsage of orange blossoms, and the Misses Keller and Kirk were attractive in lovely pink crepe-de-chine frocks. The groom was attended by Mr. Joe Ferro formerly of Hammond, now of Highland. A lovely bridal dinner was served following the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Papuga left for Hobart but will be at the bride's home next week. Mr. Papuga is commercial artist for one of the leading magazines, and a graduate of Hammond High School. Mr. and Mrs. Papuga have the best wishes of their many friends.

A lovely party was given last evening for Miss Marian Emery, by Alice Schmuesser. Miss Emery is the Dean of the Emery School for Girls and is home with her parents for a short stay. Bridge was the diversion of the evening and prizes were awarded to Veronica Doyle, Sylvia Katz and Esther Spichalsky. The hostess remembered her guest with a lovely prize, also, an elegant stuccoed shaving mug.

Miss Loraine Stoll entertained a few of her friends at her home Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Damaris Stoltz, who is to be married to Samuel Berg next month. The party was devoted to bridge and bunco. Josephine Otto won the first prize for bridge while Miss Ruth Wilder brought up the rear and took the booby prize. Helen Skinner was the lucky one in bunco and Virginia Busch took the rubber pencil.

Entertainment was provided by Florence Anderson, who played several selections on the piano, and Lucille Slavin, the man impersonator.

Miss Genevieve Perry, a teacher at H. H. S. was stricken with a severe case of spring fever late yesterday afternoon.

She was confined to her bed for two weeks by the famous specialist of this disease, Miss Irene Massoth. The case was sudden and every effort is being extended to prevent the spread of this disease among the high school students.

HANEY'S WIFE HELPS SZOPA

Rolling Pin Revolves and Rivets Fred's Dome

The fight opened with a knockout for pharmacist, Mr. Fred Haney, Esquire. Szopa comes back in the second round of five minutes in length and bounces the Esquire for a row of Ten Pin in a Dutch Valley in Holland. The thousands upon thousands on the Bleachers cheered for Szopa. There were 12 rounds to the fight but 13 were put off until Szopa could acquire and esquire a ball and bat to finish the fight. As the battle ended Haney's wife, Mary Goot, with a rolling pin, started the fight anew, thus ending the fight in Szopa's favor.

IRISHER TURNS PROFESSIONAL

Gerald Dailey, star forward of the Notre Dame quintet, turned professional last night by joining the Chicago Bruins. Dailey signed a contract valid for six years calling for $375,000 or $62,500 per year.

While in high school Dailey starred on the local quintet making an all-state forward three years in succession. His rise in the basketball field has been stupendous ever since he played his first game with room 17 in the advisory tournament in Hammond High School.

Red has the whole-hearted support of all his friends who are confident he will succeed in his new enterprise.

STEPHANIE WINS GOLF TROPHY

This great match was under the auspices of the Broken-Hearted Country Club, in honor of the home coming of the Southern Birds for their fall season. The tournament was held at the Broken-Hearted Course. The great and distinguished army officer, General Admission, was present collecting two-bit pieces while Private Keep Out requested those to leave who did not own such a sum.

The great game of Cow Pasture Pool was started from the first green. Miss Lois Daggy became very angry after fanning the air with a club for some time and finally ended up by withdrawing her 25-cent admission fee.

Blanche Kansfield was very successful. She made a perfect drive and the ball went skipping from cup to cup for the next five seconds. Dorothea Manis was unsuccessful, after digging an underground cave with her putter on the last green.

Alice Mackie was the unofficial caddie who received the lead half dollars given her by the contestants for lugging around their steamer trunks.

Stephanie Malcer won the trophy—by the way it was a solid rubber 14-karat golf ball inserted in some tea leaves.

FORMER HAMMOND GIRL CHAMP

(Appropriated Press)

The world was astounded today to learn of a remarkable feat accomplished by Enid Harrington, well known dramatist and athlete, in swimming the terrible stretch of ice water lying somewhere between England and France. This sets a new world's record, for Miss Harrington accomplished this remarkable trick wholly devoid of grease.

Her trainer, Mildred Henry, also a former student of Hammond High School, says of Miss Harrington, "The sportmanship all through the game was wonderful. Enid displayed a brilliant attack, on the offensive constantly."

Upon landing, Miss Harrington was revived by her secretary, Lois Daggy, who served her lemonade and nabiscos. Miss Daggy's job was to count the number of strokes taken by the water conqueror and also to bail out the boat which accompanied.

As Miss Harrington trotted up the beach after her little dip, Charlotte Compton, Mayor of Dover, greeted her and paid her the 2 million grand, which was appropriated from the treasury of the Hammond High School Student Association and Athletic Association.

SOX VIEW A SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Nome, Alaska—The Chicago White Sox training season opened last Monday at Nome, Alaska, in preparation for the fast approaching season. Due to an argument the former manager, Tom Levins, resigned with the statement that he could not turn out a winning team when the members of the team could not get along together. Elwood Redmond, a nationally famous baseball coach, has been appointed by Judge Clifford Williams, owner of the club, to fill the shoes of Levins. Redmond says, "With the material on hand, I can not fail to hope for the best season the Chicago Sox have had for the last 175 years. With Anthony Waskie on the mound and William Wooley behind the bat we will have the best battery in the league, and with Capt. Jack Steinmetz on first, the infield will be complete."

Class Will of 1927

We, the class of 1927, Hammond High School, City of Hammond, State of Indiana, County of Lake, having, in our opinion, matchless minds, memories and reputations, being about to depart this, our life in H. H. S., do hereby make, publish and declare, this our last will and testament.

I

- TO THE FRESHMEN—Everything that is green.
TO THE SOPHOMORES—The privilege of washing their necks.
TO THE JUNIORS—The right to say, "It won't be long now."

II

- TO THE CLASS OF '27—The traditional prestige still deserved.
TO THE CLASS OF '28—The right to elevate their noses an inch.
TO THE CLASS OF '29—The gift of gab.

III

- TO MISS KIRBY—A large volume of "Why Is Latin?"
TO MISS BURHANS—A life license to do all the students' work.
TO MISS H. McCULLOUGH—The right of smiling out loud like her sister.
TO MR. MEYERS—A mileage book to Brown County.
TO MISS GETZENDANNER—A sign reading "Rogues' Gallery" to put over her door.
TO MR. HOPPER—All the newspapers in the world.
TO MISS DAVIS—A class in Geography eight periods a day.
TO MISS NEWNHAM—A few more typewriters with which to tinker.
TO MISS BRYFOGLE—One package of blank deportment cards.
TO MISS CLARK—A book entitled "What Could Be Sweeter?"
TO MR. RUPP—Something he doesn't know about chemistry.
TO MRS. RUPP—The original square circle.
TO THE COACHES—Our sincere regards and best wishes for a successful year.

IV

- TO LEONARD HAYES—Victor Hoffman's size.
TO FRED THORNTON—Roland Matthies' stacomb.
TO MILDRED BROWN—Conny Leeney.
TO VIRGINIA PROHL—Her Mamma's consent.
TO MARY GOSTLIN—Red Stoll's rejected suitors.
TO HANK DAUGHERTY—Some other nickname meaning awkward.
TO THE CORNWELL DOUBLETS—Wishes that Sparky Williams were twins.
TO WALLY THORNTON—Bill Nagel's surplus credits.
TO RED VARNER—Ray Brock's ability to keep out of work.
TO HOWARD BECKMAN—A dancing master.
TO PETE DAILY—Some of Bus Anderson's loud sweaters.
TO HOMER WOLF—Some more little brothers to pester him.
TO RUTH SCURLOCK—A strong voice like Marie Spohnholtz's.
TO EDDIE ANUTA—Some of Art Shaw's brilliant excuses for being late.
TO CRIS WALKER—Ditto in how to prevent brain fog.
TO MARIE BIEDERWEIDEN—An ideal man like Lee Johnson.
TO AL COOK—Some more poetic inspirations.
TO ALBERT COLLINS—Inspirations to follow in the footsteps of his brother.
TO FRITZ WHITTON—Lorraine Ebert's stiff legs with which to flutter kick.
TO GERT ZEPLOWITZ—Mary Nemeth's luck in the library.
TO HERBIE ROSS—A set of false teeth for extracting purposes.
TO ANDREW REPINIX—A high grade in public speaking.
TO WENDELL HAMACHER—Some of Joe Lefter's ability in keeping the girls interested.
TO CHARLES GREEN—John Rock's ability to roll his Roman nose.

The Pledge of the Class of '27

Four years have we honored you, Hammond High,
And as timed, our sad departure draws nigh,
We pledge ourselves forevermore
By song, word and deed to honor you o'er.

Life's rigorous battle soon must we face,
When we depart well-prepared for the race
With character, courage that none can gainsay,
Determined are we not to fall by the way.

Let Honor, Courage, Loyalty be our standard true
So in this fashion may we honor you,
Persevere we shall to see the right,
Supported by memory of the Purple and White.

This ideal we carry as from you we go,
Our conduct such that all may know,
In life's conflict, if defeated, we made no alibi,
But grittly smiled, as you taught us, Hammond High.

May those behind us, too, carry on,
Honoring you as we strive anon,
Hammond High always we'll laud to High Heaven
Thus do we pledge. Onward! Class of Twenty-Seven.

THOMAS LEVINS.

The Hammond High School Association

The most outstanding organization in the school is the Hammond High School Student Association, which was organized some four years ago in order that the students might have a voice in the running of the school. Hammond is not by any means the only school which has an association of this kind, nor was the idea originated in Hammond High. Throughout the country student participation in government is becoming more and more prevalent.

The association is headed by three officers: President, Vice-President and Recorder. In conjunction, and as an aid to these leaders, are the Cabinet, House and Senate. The election for all of these offices takes place once a year.

One of the greatest accomplishments of this organization was the founding and establishing of Student Courts. Here are sent the students who are guilty of minor offenses, to be tried and sentenced by the student judges.

Under the splendid leadership of our present president, Marvin Anderson, the most recent accomplishment has been the establishing of the Honor System in a few of the study halls, by which the students study on their honor and teachers are present for their professional services only. Although it took the greater part of the year to establish it, now that it has been inaugurated, its success is assured.

And so we have the outstanding accomplishments of former years, but no one can forecast the achievements of the years to come. However, there need be little worry on the latter score for under new officers the association will carry on in the future and profit by the experiences of the past and will establish new life, new spirit, and new feeling in the students of our school in the years to come.

The Dunes Staff

THE DUNES, a résumé of the year in pictures, is the result of the hard work of a group of eighteen students known as THE DUNES Staff. This staff works constantly from early fall until late spring to get out a book that will be a credit to the High School. Few people realize how much work is connected with the publishing of a book, taking of the pictures, reducing pictures for cuts so the pages will balance, and the million other things that must be done to make a book worthy of honorable mention.

Each year a new theme for the work must be worked out, and this unifies the book. In keeping with the progress of Hammond the waterfront idea was carried out in the opening section, border and division pages, thus unifying this book. All the art work was done by the students in the Art Department under the supervision of Miss Schubkegel.

The 1926 DUNES won a First National Rating at the National Convention held at Madison, Wisconsin. Only one other book in Indiana, The Totem of Fort Wayne, won a higher place. Due to the criticism of too many pages of advertising, the staff is decreasing the number of pages by using a new method known as donations.

The Herald Staff

The Calumet Herald is the weekly publication of Hammond High School. There are about 40 people who work incessantly in order to insure an issue of the paper each week. While THE DUNES deals with the happenings throughout the year as a whole, the Herald keeps a record of the live news that occurs each week.

The paper was first published under the name of the Temulac about twelve years ago. It belonged to few organizations and in general was just a small high school paper of little consequence. However, each year's staff has profited by the experience of the previous year's until the publishing of the paper has now become nearly as systematic as that of many of the city dailies.

The Herald now belongs to numerous organizations, including the Indiana High School Press Association, the Central Interscholastic Press Association, and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The Calumet Herald won second place in the Indiana High School Press Association last year, the South Side Times being the only paper in Indiana judged to be superior quality. Each year these organizations hold conventions where prominent speakers and journalists give the delegates their ideas and suggestions as to journalistic work. In this way the delegates obtain new ideas on newspaper publishing and return home to try it out, thus making a better paper. Journalism is being fostered more and more by high schools. Hammond offers a one-semester course in journalism. Of course, it would be absurd to even imagine that one could emerge from one term of instruction and go out into the world a full-fledged journalist. In the course offered in this high school just the high spots, the barest fundamentals, are learned.

Virginia Prohl

Herald—Continued

It has been the policy of the Herald this year to "herald" forthcoming events rather than merely to chronicle those that are past. That this is a popular policy is proved by a large increase in circulation in the school.

Merchants realize the value of Herald advertising. An evident desire to serve them with fidelity and efficiency has resulted in all the advertising the paper can properly carry.

The paper is unique among similar publications in that it is printed entirely in the school plant. Its typographical excellence is largely the result of Mr. W. H. Howe, head of that department, whose hearty co-operation has won the appreciation of successive editorial staffs since his coming to Hammond some years ago. Each week the shop has done all the typesetting and printing of twenty-four six-inch columns, with occasional supplements and extra pages, in addition to the many other projects carried through to a successful conclusion by them.

An idea of the magnitude of the work of the staff may be gained from an examination of the bookkeeper's books. Well over a thousand dollars has already passed through the hands of the business manager this year.

And so the work goes on. Each week before the paper reaches the students' hands, plans for the next week's paper are well under way. It is an interesting game, newspaper work, and once it is in your blood it is impossible to quell it; and though the life of a newspaper man is not an easy one, the thrill, the excitement, the smell of ink keep many men working incessantly for the newspapers.

Affirmative Debating Team

Early last fall tryouts were held for the debating teams. After much deliberation Mr. Kumpf, Mr. Myers and Miss Getzendanner chose twelve members for the squad.

The question for debate was: Resolved, That there should be established a Federal Department of Education with a Secretary in the President's Cabinet.

The squad was divided into affirmative and negative teams. Those comprising the affirmative squad are: Stanley Tweedle, Roland Matthies, George DeHaven, Vivian Dickson, and Mr. Myers as coach.

The first debate was held with East Chicago, whose negative team met the affirmative in the high school auditorium. The question was well discussed and the affirmative received a 2-1 decision.

After this victory the team traveled to Michigan City, and again received a 2-1 decision.

The next debate for the Northern Indiana championship will be held with the South Bend district winner.

A final debate is held between the Hammond teams in the auditorium session at the end of the debate season.

Standing: Marvin Anderson, Mr. Kumpf, Thomas Levins. Seated: Ben Kaufman, Loraine Stoll, Virginia Prohl, Leo McKesson

Negative Debating Team

Room 210 was the scene of much confusion, wind-choking sounds and earnest banging of fists on tables. Investigation developed that the negative team, guided and directed by Mr. W. H. Kumpf, was in action.

The question which inspired such enthusiasm on the part of several dignified Seniors was: Resolved, That there should be established a Federal Department of Education with a Secretary in the President's Cabinet.

The "Purple Wranglers" of the negative team were Loraine Stoll, Thomas Levins and Marvin Anderson. The alternates were Virginia Prohl, Ben Kaufman and Leo McKesson.

The first debate was held at East Chicago in the auditorium of the Washington High School and resulted in a victory of 3-0 in favor of Hammond, and they received the same decision in the Michigan City contest.

Since the teams have won both contests they oppose the winners of South Bend for the Northern Indiana debating championship.

The members of the negative team who will be back to represent Hammond next year are Virginia Prohl and Ben Kaufman. With this material much is expected of the team next year.

To the untiring efforts of the coaches, Miss Kennedy and Miss Getzendanner, and to Mr. Kumpf can be attributed much of the success which has thus far attended the efforts of the team.

Hi-Y Club

The Hi-Y Club, a high school branch of the Y. M. C. A., is a group of boys who have been working hard to obtain a Y. M. C. A. for Hammond. This year the State Y. M. C. A. Convention was held in Hammond and every effort was made to impress the people of Hammond that they should have a Y. M. C. A.

The aim of the Hi-Y Club is to create, maintain and extend throughout our school and community, high standards of Christian character.

Membership is open to any upper classman who attends three regular evening meetings and satisfies the membership committee of his sincerity of purpose.

The officers for this semester are: Melvin Zachau, president; Wayne Hollett, vice-president; George DeHaven, secretary; and Crawford Beatty, treasurer.

Perge

The Perge Club, now sponsored by Coach Morehead, was organized as the "Undertakers" at Camp Betz last year, but changed its name after having become a school organization.

The members are boys who have made a name in athletics and other school activities.

The main purpose of the club is to promote school spirit, back all school activities, and sponsor new ventures. In keeping with its purpose they sold tickets to football and basketball games, sponsored a successful dance, and presented trophies to the most valuable football and basketball men.

The officers for the first semester were: Karlos Dickinson, president; Lester Cornwell, vice-president; and William Jacobson, secretary-treasurer. The officers for the second semester are William Jacobson, president; Lester Cornwell, vice-president; Arthur Earl, secretary-treasurer.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society was organized last year and is made up of Seniors who have shown exceptional ability in leadership, scholarship, character and service. It is a high school branch of the Phi Beta Kappa.

At present it is comprised of ten members of the Senior Class who were chosen by a faculty committee. They are: Roland Matthies, Samuel Berg, Gladys Zyp, Francis Edgecombe, Victor Hofmann, Marvin Anderson, Fannie Lurie, Cyrille Pratt, and Marian Emery. The new members are Florence Anderson, Lesa Anderson, George Ault, Rosella Brady, Edna Campbell, Louise Cornwell, Mildred Dysart, Kathryn Gray, Wayne Hollet, Irene McLean, Thomas McLean, Alice Schmueser.

The officers are Fannie Lurie, president; Cyrille Pratt, vice-president; Marian Emery, secretary; and Victor Hofmann, treasurer. The society is sponsored by Miss Gustafson.

Arts and Crafts Club

The Arts and Crafts Club was organized two years ago. It is composed of twenty talented artists. They make themselves known by their auditorium session, Ball Masque, attractive posters, and scenery for our stage. Many pupils do not realize the importance of this club, but upon careful consideration they will readily see that the club does more for the school and other organizations than any other club in school.

The officers are: Mathilda Phillips, president; Mae Newcombe, vice-president; and Maurine Shubert, secretary-treasurer. Miss Schubkegel, art supervisor, is the sponsor of this organization.

Second row: Mary Gostlin, Enid Harrington, Miss Ross, Miss Johnson, Loraine Stoll, Edith Smith.
Third row: Margaret Hagedorn, Virginia Busch, Henrietta Seaman, Janet Lefter, Vivian Dickson, Jean Robertson.

Triacs

The Triacs Club is made up of a group of sixteen girls from the Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes. The purpose of the organization is to promote a better school spirit in all activities.

The word "Triacs" stands for three activities, athletics, scholarship and social.

The girls give a banquet each year for the football and basketball boys, who have fought so hard for the honor of Hammond High School.

The advisors of this organization are Miss Hoffman and Miss Clark. The officers are: Ruth Wilder, president; Loraine Stoll, vice-president; Damaris Stolte, secretary; and Dorothy Minas, treasurer.

French Club

In 1925 the French Club was organized for the purpose of giving the students an opportunity to speak French. The conversation at the meeting is entirely French and the programs are also French. In order to be a member one must have had at least one year of the French language.

This active organization gave a play at the Fair last year and is intending to give a program this year.

The advisor of the club is Miss Ross, and the officers are: Sylvia Katz, president; Stanley Tweedle, vice-president; Josephine Otto, secretary; and John McCartin, treasurer.

Girl Reserves

The Girl Reserves, a junior branch of the Y. W. C. A., is a very active organization. It was organized five years ago as the Friendship Club under the supervision of Miss Edith Gwinn, but has recently affiliated with the Girl Reserves and is now sponsored by Miss White and Miss Bollenbach.

Every Christmas the girls give a party for the children at the Brooks House and fill baskets for poor families. In February a Valentine party is given for the Freshmen girls. In April a Mother and Daughter banquet is held.

The officers are: Marian Emery, president; Lesa Anderson, vice-president; Alice Schmueser, secretary; and Esther Spichalsky, treasurer.

Top row: Ruth Brown, Dorothea Manis, Helen Germain, Vivian Trippier, Tillie Barton, Evelyn Carlson, Elizabeth Hopman, Adeline Highland. Second row: Hazel Zachau, Margaret Geyer, Dorothy Stewart, Elizabeth Mead, Evelyn Eastridge, Edna Campbell, Ruth Gledhill, Genevieve Rybarczyk. Third row: Alice Kruse, Betty Bennett, Ermytrude Grobner, Ellen Foley, Lorena Bechtold, Miss Molison, Marjorie Bomberger, Eleanor Anderson, Jean Robertson, Irene Massoth. Fourth row: Marjorie Rowen, Eleanor Lewis, Margaret Schaffer, Lucille Downing, Mildred Hunt, Gertrude West, Ellen Kaufman, Jennie Fabian, Mildred Bellamy, Stella Johnson. Fifth row: Merle Sittan, Marjorie Jones, Mary Jusek, Esther Nemeth, Isabel Riemann, Mary Grace Sherby, Margaret O'Brien, Dawn Post, Mildred Seitz, Nellie Stevens, Grace Daley. Sixth row: Charlotte Elder, Mildred Friedman, Frances Martin, Eddy Borgman, Marian Robinson, Ruth Freeman, Florence Finks, Miss Jay, Margaret Hagelorn, Ruth Herbst, Dora Feldmen. Seventh row: Lilian Reitzer, Marjorie Pope, Evelyn Hart, Margaret Manis, Virginia Busch, Zula Busch, Ruth Scerlock, Henrietta Duncan, Ruth Welch. Eighth row: Inez Anuta, Mary Swank, Fern Arnold, Jean Stolte, Virginia Maes, Mary Palko, Dorcas Bohling, Betty Roscrans.

G. A. C.

The Girls' Athletic Club of Hammond High is a very active organization. Its purpose is to promote an interest among the girls for all types of sport.

This year the club was reorganized and is doing very well under the efficient supervision of Miss Jay and Miss Molison.

The members receive points for partaking in athletics and when they have received a certain number of points they are awarded an emblem.

The officers are: Marjorie Bomberger, president; Nellie Stevens, vice-president; Virginia Busch, secretary; and Lorena Bechtold, treasurer.

Sphinx Club

The Sphinx Club, one of the most outstanding clubs in school, promotes interest in history and historical research. At the meetings interesting programs are held, in which current events and special programs are given.

In order to become a member one must receive a grade of "A" in some social study.

Under the able supervision of its sponsors, Miss Burhans, Mr. Myers, Miss Breyfogle and Miss Johnson, the club has had a successful year. The officers at the present time are: Gerald Dailey, president; Harold Miller, vice-president; and Lorena Bechtold, secretary-treasurer.

Science Club

The Science Club is composed of four divisions: Biology, Physics, Chemistry, and Camera. These divisions have separate meetings, but occasionally they have a joint meeting.

To be eligible one must have an average of "B" in any one of the sciences represented. The club is sponsored by Mr. Brandsmark, Mr. Long, Mr. Hays and Miss Reeder.

The work of each club is very interesting. The Biology Club takes field trips in the spring and holds very interesting meetings. The Chemistry division experiments along the lines of chemical research. The Physics Club also works out interesting experiments. The members of the Camera Club have learned to take pictures and develop them correctly. The pictures taken on the trips to the dunes show the value of their training.

Girls' Glee Club

The Glee Clubs, under the direction of Miss Helen Howe, were made separate organizations this year, and the result has been very gratifying.

The Girls' Glee Club gives promise of being the most active organization in school. With the co-operation of the Boys' Glee Club, it presented to the public the first operetta ever given in our high school: "The Love Pirates of Hawaii." Due to the success of the operetta it promises to become an annual affair.

Besides entering the Lake County Contest, the girls are planning to make several public appearances. Among them are at the Parthenon Theatre, the State Theatre, and the Woman's Club. The officers are: Manager, Vivian Dickson; assistant manager, Margaret Hagedorn; secretary-treasurer, Isabel McWilliams.

Boys' Glee Club

The Boys' Glee Club is also under the direction of Miss Howe, and as a new organization has been very active. There are forty members in this club.

Their part in the operetta as the pirates did much to make it a success, and they showed what they were capable of doing in a musical way.

They are planning to enter the Lake County Contest, not only as a separate group, but also with the Girls' Glee Club in a mixed chorus number.

The club has made several appearances in the High School auditorium this year and have accepted several invitations to appear in public. The officers are: Manager, Truman Weimer; assistant manager, Gale Towle; and secretary-treasurer, Virgil Anderson.

Girls' Band

The Girls' Band, the best in Lake County, is developing very rapidly. At present it is composed of about fifty pieces and is under the supervision of Mr. Lesinsky and Mr. Diercks.

The band has obtained much favorable comment and has been fortunate enough to broadcast from a well known Chicago station. It has been invited to attend a Rotary Club convention, which will be held at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Last year the band won first place in the Lake County Contest and is out to win first place again this year.

Boys' Band

If you see a band dressed in purple and white, led by the highest stepping drum-major in the Calumet region, Charles Renwick, you will know that it is the Hammond High School Band. The boys are under the supervision of Mr. Lesinsky and Mr. Diercks.

Like the Girls' Band and the Orchestra, it has broadcast from Chicago radio stations and has won a great deal of praise.

Each year the band holds a concert which is always a success and also enters the Lake County Contests. This year the band has worked untiringly and is intending to enter not only the County Contest, but also the State Contest.

Orchestra

The orchestra, composed of forty students, is the oldest musical organization of which Hammond High School can boast. It is under the supervision of A. P. Lesinsky.

The two concerts and radio programs have brought the orchestra before the public, and very favorable comments have been made. With all these comments, and second place in the State Contest last year, we are hoping to win first place this year in the Lake County and State Contests.

The orchestra prides itself on two very talented soloists—Joe Lefter, flutist, and Lloyd Merrill, violinist. These boys have played before the public many times, and deserve a great deal of credit for their work and interest in the success of the orchestra.

Bohemian Club

The Bohemian Club, composed of the talented writers of Hammond High School, is an honorary organization. Only students of superior writing ability are admitted.

It was organized about three years ago by Miss Helen McCullough and Miss Flora Snyder.

Each year the club publishes a small magazine entitled "La Boheme," which contains the best writings of the members of the club. Last year over five hundred magazines were sold at the Fair.

In spring of 1926 Mary Stephenson, a member of the club, won second prize in the poetry contest of Indiana's Literary Field Day, held at Culver, and was the only high school student to win a poetry prize.

At the beginning of the year there were only four members, but at the present the membership numbers sixteen. The officers are: Vivian Dickson, president; Alice Keister, secretary. The club advisor is Miss Helen McCullough.

Ace of Clubs

The Ace of Clubs was organized in 1922, and the membership has increased each year. It is an honorary club and is the only one to which Freshmen may belong. In order to become a member one must receive higher than "C" in all of one's studies. The aim of the organization is to maintain a high standard of scholarship among the Freshmen.

This active organization is sponsored by Miss Pritchard. The officers are: Virginia Milne, president; Evelyn Houpt, vice-president; Betty Osler, secretary; and Isadore Newman, treasurer.

Home Economics

The Home Economics Club is the newest club in Hammond High School. It was organized last year by ten girls from the sewing classes. Any girl may be a member who has received an average of "B" in either cooking or sewing.

The purpose of the club is to further Home Economics in Hammond High School and to form a connecting link between the home and the school. It has also planned to sponsor more conservative dress.

This club is sponsored by Miss Kimmelshue and Miss Heiner. The officers are: Irene McLean, president; Pearl Munster, secretary-treasurer.

The Dramatic Club

One of the foremost of clubs in the school is the Dramatic Club.

It is its duty to sponsor all activities dealing with dramatics. When the debaters have their contests the club is back of them. When plays are given the club is supporting them. The Dramatic Club is a real part of the school.

Every year the club sponsors one big three-act play. The play given this year was "King for a Day." It was a huge success. The club is now sponsored by Miss Kennedy, teacher of public speaking. Interest in dramatics is kept alive by this organization.

H-Men's Club

The H-Men's Club is an honorary organization open to all men who have earned a letter in a major sport. The club is rapidly increasing in membership and now there are about twenty members.

On Monday mornings their meetings are held with Lowry Smith officiating as president, and Ray Brock as secretary-treasurer. Mr. Nesbit is advisor.

If you will notice on Wednesdays you will see that the boys wear the sweaters they have earned and of which they may all be very proud.

The purpose of this organization is to raise the standards of athletics in the school and to bring improvement in spirit and sportsmanship.

The Book Room

The Book Room first came into existence in 1923 when an auxiliary bank was formed to accommodate the clubs and organizations of the high school. Mr. Rupp was placed in charge. Soon it became evident that Mr. Rupp needed an assistant. Carlton Rudelius was chosen. About this time the sale of theme paper was also added to the duties of the Book Room. At the end of the term of 1923-4 Julius Ebert was added to the Book Room force. At the beginning of the term of 1924-5 Edward Stearn replaced Carlton Rudelius, who had graduated in June. The next year Loraine Ebert was added to the force, and later in the year Melvin Zachau took the place of Edward Stearn. When Julius Ebert graduated Martin McCullough was decided upon to take his place. Floyd Tharp later replaced him. The Book Room force now consists of Mr. Rupp, Loraine Ebert, Melvin Zachau, and Floyd Tharp. Since 1923 the Book Room has been constantly growing until now one can get books, theme paper, experiment paper, graph paper, drawing paper, assignment books, note books, pencils, pens, ink, maps, chemistry stencils, type paper, and gym suits at the Book Room. It still serves as an auxiliary bank to all clubs and organizations of the high school.

Football

COACH MOREHEAD

Coach Morehead came to us directly from the Ohio State University where he assisted in coaching. He was greeted by a group of boys who were practically inexperienced, with only two men who played with the 1925 team. He worked hard with these boys and made a fighting team, although not one superior to Emerson.

COACH MOREHEAD

KARLOS DICKINSON (Captain)
Quarterback

"Jodie" piloted the team quite successfully. He was a good captain and always kept the boys in good spirits. "Jodie's" best game was with Whiting. He seemed to perform miracles that day. "Jodie" will not be numbered among the squad next year.

COACH HAYS

For several years Coach Hays has been indispensable in helping to build a competent football team for Hammond. He has tried to inspire the fellows with a gritty, fighting spirit, and has done all in his power in training Hammond's inexperienced material.

Football—Continued

BERG, SAMUEL, Center

"Phoebe" was a dependable center. He never let many plays get by him, for he was there and at them. He went at them low and the opposing side soon found they must try other means of gaining ground. "Phoebe's" services will be missed next year for he played every game to the finish.

JACOBSON, WILLIAM, Guard

"Heavy" was a very valuable man to the team. He held the opposing team at a standstill and usually received the name of "Stonewall" by the opposing team. "Heavy" was the best guard and linesman on the team. He received the Armstrong trophy and the best linesman's trophy for being the best player on the team. "Heavy" graduates this year and his services are going to be greatly missed.

SZOPA, FRANK, Backfield

"Zyp" was a very good backfield man. When a few yards were needed "Zyp" was there. He was a good ground gainer on "kick-offs." He was liked by all on the team and was often the subject of a laugh or two. "Zyp" graduates this year and will not be back to help us next year.

BOLCH, FRANK, End

"Bolchie" was the principal ground gainer on the team. He saved the day for us many a time. His best game was against Whitting, but he played well at all times. Although only a three-year man, his gridiron days with old Hammond High are over.

BEREOLAS, LEO, End

"Sodie" was one of the "go get 'em ends." He put all his power into the plays. He was a skillful tackler and could be depended upon to get the ball for a good gain. "Sodie" was liked by all the team. He is among the departing Seniors.

LEROY, HARRY, Tackle

Harry was one of the most willing workers on the team. He was always working hard to earn a berth on the squad. His size and weight helped him greatly, making him a nice bulwark in the line. He played his best game against Tech. This is Harry's last year in Hammond High School.

HAMACHER, WENDELL (Capt.-elect), Fullback

"Wins" was one of the best ground-gainers on the team. He starred at blocking and tackling and when it came to stopping a man if "Wins" couldn't do it, hardly any other man on the team could. He put his best in every play and through his undying efforts was placed as leader of next year's squad.

WHITTON, FRED, End

"Fritz" was a speedy end and successfully carried quite a few passes for good gains. He was always a help to the team, for he was down under punts and could nail a man in his tracks. He will be among the players next year.

SHAW, WILBUR, Guard

Shaw took a good many knocks and bruises, just as any guard must do. He was fast and cunning and his size did not hinder his good playing. He has the honor of being back to fight for the Purple and White next year.

VARNER, HARRY, Tackle

"Red" was there when it came to gaining ground. He was very good at blocking and also at tackling. He started at the Tech game and by making long runs and good tackles he deserves this honor. "Red," who is a second Red Grange, will be back next year to help make one of the most successful squads in the history of old Hammond High School.

DOWNING, EDWARD, End

"Ed" was an active end and was usually in the midst of the fray. The ball seemed to be drawn into his hands as if by a magnet. "Ed" will also help build up our next year's squad of fighting "Wildcats."

SWEITZER, ROBERT, Tackle

"Bob" was a good tackler and seemed to be all over the field. He was a hard, steady player, putting all his energy upon the play. "Bob" will be back next year to help fight with the team.

WIGHTMAN, DAVE, Tackle

Dave was there, hard and fast. His services benefited the team. He played good in the backfield, and also played end. His best game was with Froebel. Dave is one of the men who will be back to fight next year.

COLLINS, ALFRED, Tackle

"Al" was one of the best linemen on the team. He was a good fighter and made it hard for the other team to do any ground gaining. "Al's" best game was with Froebel. He was as tough as nails and showed it. He will be missed next year, as he has been in school four years.

ORANGER, ELSTON, Guard

"Kid" was there when it came to getting through the line and breaking up plays. He was a good tackler, and was all over the opponent's side when he was needed there. "Kid" will be back next year to fight with the rest of the squad.

POPE, EDGAR, Center

Pope was a very good center. When in a tight place he could be depended upon to place the ball where it was wanted. This was Pope's first year, and he will be back again next year to toss the old ball.

Football Review

HAMMOND—0 STREATOR—0

Streator was supposed to be one of the strongest teams in Illinois, but Hammond held them. Hammond made eleven first downs to Streator's four. The ball was on Streator's one-yard line once and on the two-yard line once, but it could not be pushed over. Bolch starred, while Dickinson, Jacobson and Collins stood out well.

HAMMOND—9 WHITING—7

Bolch and Dicky stood out among all the rest of the players. This year Whiting had the best team in years. Bolch's sixty-yard run was the spectacular event of the day. Hammond played real football in the last quarter and gained all their points then.

HAMMOND—6 EAST CHICAGO—26

The boys fought to the last. A pass from Dickinson to Bolch netted our only marker, after a thirty-yard run. East Chicago made most of her points by an intercepted pass and a blocked kick. Luck seemed to be with the opponents. At the close of the game Hammond had most all of her second string men in, and still held them. Too bad we couldn't have had their luck. The whole team worked splendidly.

HAMMOND—3 FROEBEL—26

Hammond went down in defeat, but their spirit lasted. The whole team fought hard, and though the odds were against them, they were very alert, stopping most all the plays of the strong Froebel team. We recovered eight of Froebel's fumbles by our alertness and quickness. Captain Dickinson drop-kicked the goal, thus making our lone marker.

HAMMOND—0 EMERSON—55

It seemed as though the ghost of Emerson hovered over the Hammond boys. Hammond, underweighed and a green team, fought hard against the veterans of the Emerson squad. The fighting spirit of our boys was quite invincible, but we couldn't get any pointers on this foreign team.

HAMMOND—0 TECH—0

This game ended the season and divided the championship between the two high schools of Hammond. The mercury was ranging below the freezing point throughout the game. Varner starred in this game. It was a very hotly contested game, and both sides fought well. It was the toughest game of the season. The whole Hammond team played exceptionally well. Varner stood out in the backfield and Jacobson and Bolch on the line.

Basketball

ALVIN JURGENS, Center

Jurgens was a fighter and put every ounce of energy into his plays, and was rewarded by a berth on the team. He was a good man and played other positions besides center.

WALLIE THORNTON, Forward

Wallie is a hard, earnest worker, and although this was his first year he made a strong position on the team. He is among the Juniors, so will be back next year.

RUSSELL PURBAUGH, Center

The last year's manager earned his place on the team after patient work which required grit, determination and all-around sportsmanship.

FRITZ THORNTON, Guard

Fritz is one of the most promising athletes in Hammond High for future years. He was a hard and willing worker, afraid of no player. He played well at all the positions.

KARLOS DICKINSON, Forward

"Dago" served his team well. He was a fast man, having a year's experience to his credit, and was a great aid to his fellow players. This is "Dago's" last year with the squad.

COACH FRANK REID

Coach was always there to help in any way the boys, who were putting all their grit and determination into the games. He is a hard, sturdy coach and he built up one of our best teams. He worked with his men practically the year round to develop a lightning team.

FRANK REID

Basketball—Continued

CHARLES RENWICK, Guard

"Chuck" was there to lend a helping hand. He served as utility man and played best at guard. His size was not much, but he was a go-getter.

FRANKLIN HOBBS, Center

Hobbs was a hard man to get, for he was quite a headache for the basket from distant shots, although short shots seemed to harass him.

DURBIN BROWN, Guard

A hard player was "Duke." He was always in the midst of the fray, and can never be said to have lain down on the job. His hard work will again be appreciated next year.

CARL SALCZYNSKI, Forward

Carl is a small but mighty player with plenty of speed. He was enough for any group of players, for he was a hard and gritty fighter. Carl is leaving us this year.

EDWIN NELSON, Guard

"Eddie" was in the fight with all his heart. He is considered one of the valuable finds of the season. "Eddie" will be back next year to occupy a place on the team.

CAPTAIN LES CORNWELL, Forward

Les piloted the team with great vigor. He was the hardest fighter and best spirited man on the team. Les has made practically half the points for Hammond.

LES CORNWELL

Basketball Team

Considering we did not win the "tourney" does not signify that Hammond High did not profit by her basketball team. With new material, lacking in age and size, Coach Reid developed a fast and hard working team. With odds always against them, they did not give up—even after the last whistle they showed their good spirit.

Two things gained besides victory were co-operation and sportsmanship. Even though going down to defeat the boys co-operated with their Captain, Lester Cornwell, and worked until the final whistle. Never once from the floor came an objection that they were not being treated fairly. Their coaching had taught them sportsmanship.

Track Team

A very excellent bunch of boys turned out for track this year and among them were many of last year's men. Brock, Varner, D. Moran, S. Moran, Kintz, Becker, Les Cornwell, Lowell Cornwell, Hollett, Purbough, Brown, and Bereolas are back, and these plus a few others point out a very prospective year for Hammond High.

After track closed last year they started a season of cross-country running. The field for the run was in the rear of the school, consisting of a course of two and one-half miles of rugged ground. Hammond took the only invitational meet and actually swamped competing teams.

Coach Morehead has a healthy schedule booked up for the track team of 1927. Due to the material back from last year, and the new men working for berths on the team, we should have quite an overwhelming team to represent us this season.

Mr. Reid coached the track squad last year and made some fast men, and as a whole, a very good team. This season we have with us Mr. Morehead. It might be said that Coach Morehead was an all-around track man in his days at college.

Mr. Nesbit, Cook, Shaw, Whitton, Anuta, Brock, Danch, Lefter, Koch.

Swimming Team

The Hammond High School aquatic team was piloted very successfully by "Eddie" Anuta. The boys were fast and willing to put every bit into the fight. Since 1925 the Hammond tankmen have not been beaten in any dual meet by any Lake County team.

MAURICE NESBIT

The men that made up the team were: Anuta, Whitton, Brock, Cook, Shaw, Koch, Danch, Kniecza, all of them being fine sports and fighters.

COACH MAURICE NESBIT

Coach Nesbit is the man who is fast developing one of the best teams in this region. He has worked faithfully with the boys and is always there to aid with a helping hand. His remarkable coaching is known by all the surrounding schools.

FEATURES

King for a Day

"A King for a Day," the annual fall play, was a decided success and played to two full houses. It was a three-act comedy of a humorous type. Andy Whittaker, taken by George Ault, an inexperienced actor, was very well done. Winifred Wise, as Jerry Drew, the bookkeeper, played opposite George. She, too, was inexperienced, but played her part well. The character part played by Owen Crumpacker, upon two days' notice, was ably done and each time he appeared he was given a hearty applause. Enid Harrington as June Allen, the wealthy society girl; Bertha Kmecza as Evangeline Gray, the small town newspaper reporter; Charles Gruen as Dr. Giles Faraday, in love with June, were all well-selected parts and very cleverly worked out.

Each member of the cast in co-operation with Paul Berry, stage manager, and Miss Edna Getzendanner, coach, made the play the most outstanding feature of the first semester.

A nation is no greater than its channel swimmers.

Miss WOOD: Who was the first man?
KARLOS DICKINSON: Washington, he was the first in war, first in—

Miss WOOD: No, no, Adam was the first man.

KARLOS: Oh, if you're talking of foreigners, I s'pose he was.

"Mike, how's your wife?"

"Oh, she's dead, thanks, your honor. How's your own?"

Didja ever see:

Lorraine Stoll when she wasn't talking?

Two good assemblies in a row?

A girl with long skirts?

Ray Brock with all "A" cards?

Melvin Zachau without Edna Hayworth? Neither did I.

Wouldn't she be ideal if she had:

Claudine Mueller's hair,
Gertrude Ambre's eyes,
Kathryn Housley's complexion,
Marian Emery's smile,
Ferdie's teeth,
Enid Harrington's ability to dance,
Florence Anderson's brilliance,
Cyrille Pratt's disposition.

Wouldn't he be ideal if he had:

Jack McCartin's hair,
Dan Moran's eyes,
Jack Steinmetz's teeth,
Sam Berg's height,
"Heavy" Jacobson's athletic ability,
Roland Matthies' clothes,
Steve Moran's smile,
Eugene Jacobson's ability to dance.

SAM BERG: A man told me I looked like you.

DICKEY: Where is he? I'll knock him block off.

SAM: Oh, I killed him.

JACK SHERRY: Prithee, George, why lookest thou in the mirror so long?

GEORGE AULT: Forsooth, Jack, I am counting my mustache.

She Mae Have Gone Home

Here we have a peek into the private life of Marvin Anderson and Mae Newcomb. This picture was taken in Marvin's back yard before he became president. A few minutes after the picture was taken Marvin tipped Mae from the board and she took her dolls and dishes and went home.

FRANK SZOPA: Is football your favorite game?
RED VARNER: No, I prefer wild turkey on toast.

LORENA B.: I just got back from the beauty parlor. I was there three hours.

TYLER McALVAY: Too bad that you stayed so long and then didn't get waited on.

"He did me wrong," cried the algebra problem as John McCartin handed in his exam.

LOWRY SMITH: Give us a cigarette, will you?

F. BOLCH: Sorry, old top, I'm all out.

L. SMITH: That's all right; I'll smoke my glasses.

NELSON GRILLS: Sure!
I met him in the alley,
As the hour was getting late;
He hit me mit a fence post
So I hit him mitigate.

MR. HAYS: What's a dry dock?

KARLOS D.: A physician who won't give out prescriptions.

MR. HOPPER: This exam will be conducted on the Honor System. Please take seats three apart and in alternate rows.

EVELYN HOUP: I'm just a little love bird.
RAY BROCK: That's funny, I was told you were just a little cuckoo.

MISS BREYFOGLE: Tomorrow we shall have a test. We have not had one since the Civil War.

Karberg's Kid Kapers

Now playing at the Auditorium. It might be interesting to know that every actor and actress in the entire company was at one time a student of the Hammond High School of Hammond, Indiana.

This Revue, now playing its fifty-ninth week, is under the direction of Sam Berg and Karlos Dickinson. Both of these men have studied abroad at certain intervals and are the last word in directors. It is interesting to know that Mr. Berg is the financial manager and Mr. Dickinson selects the subjects and the participants in the play.

Personnel

DOROTHY PARKS—Fresh from Vodvil and known on the stage as Dot Dash.

EDMUND BOMBERGER—Our little prize fighter and all-around athlete. Known in college and high school as Nine Flat Ed. He always gets nine and he sleeps on the flat of his back.

LORENA BECHTOLD—Known little in this country, but she comes from France, where she had the lead in "Old Galoshes."

CHARLES GRUEN—Sometimes referred to as the life of the show. He needs no introduction since he has been behind the footlights for sixteen years.

ENID HARRINGTON—Sometimes referred to as 1940's Gilda Grey. She swims the English channel every morning for a setting-up exercise.

STANLEY TWEEDLE—The world's most popular comedian. We have in him Al Jolson, Bert Williams and Eddie Cantor. Mr. Tweedle, with his Mammy songs, is often heard over H. H. S., the only station owned and operated by a school of 15,000 students. We compliment Mr. Tweedle on his popularity.

Firemen, Save My Child!

This show has been playing in New York for five seasons and outranks many of the leading theatrical productions on Broadway today. This show is another of the Karberg's plays. The scene is set in the Bowery of East Lansing and after many weeks of hardships and untold sufferings the story was written at the place of its origin.

The players have been selected carefully and are equal with the "Karberg's Kid Kapers." Tickets are now selling sixteen weeks in advance. The public is invited to meet the actors personally from 6 to 8 every day at the Walberg-Astoria.

Personnel

NEIL TANIS—At one time popular screen idol and oil magnate.

GEORGE AULT—The qualities of Valentino and Barrymore are in this one person.

BERTHA KMECZA—Her name is Countess Out. After a brief vacation she has returned to the footlights.

IRVING LEVIN—Leading man and all-around fill-in. He recently played in "Eggs! Eggs! Sixty Cents a Dozen!"

WINIFRED WISE—The little sweetheart of the Berg-Dickinson circuit. Known on Broadway as the second Bernhart.

HARRY LEWIS—Stage manager and fireman. Formerly on regular Hessville fire department squad.

HOIBO

DAY

JOE LEFTER: Did you read Marvin Anderson's note book?

TRUMAN WEIMER: No, but I passed anyway.

APOLLO SMITH (in country): What's that funny stuff on that sheep?

CYRUS NEWCOMB: Wool.

A. SMITH: Wool! Huh—I'll bet it's half cotton.

Fred Miller stayed up all night trying to see the point to one of his teacher's jokes, and then it dawned on him.

JACK MCCARTIN: Did you hear the story about the Scotchman who left his change on the counter?

WINS HAMACHER: No, I didn't.

JACK: Neither did anyone else.

MISS H. McCULLOUGH: Give me an example of a coincidence.

BUD PROHL: All our great men were born on holidays.

In Grown Heels

Margaret Stodola, Sylvia Katz and Ruth Karl are out sheik hunting in the wilds of East Gary. Notice the galoshes—where are the roller skates? Luck to you, fair ones.

PEGGY HAGEDORN: I got in a show last night scot-free.

JEAN ROBERTSON: What's that?

PEGGY H.: The other fellow paid.

RAYMOND BROCK: I'd like a pencil.

THOMAS LEVINS: Hard or soft?

RAY BROCK: Soft, it's for writing a love letter.

Sheik Sam Berg says if he got eight hours of sleep a night he would die of sleeping sickness.

Isle of View

Victor Hofmann very successfully portrays Mike Mulligan when he proposes to Mary Nemeth—alas! We hope he will not go out and shoot up the world. Note Mary's expression. Sorry we can't carry you on to the next picture.

DAVE WIGHTMAN: Why does Ferdinando always keep a fellow waiting so long after she says she'll be ready in a minute?

IRVING LEVIN: Because she picks out a minute which is about an hour away.

WINS HAMACHER: How do you know that the man who shot himself was insane?

JACK MCCARTIN: He had two teeth filled an hour before he did it.

Prominent Sing Sing Alumni Caught

Extra! Extra! One of the most vicious and clever gangs of criminals has been rounded up, and the public in and around Chicago can rest in peace. This catch is killing two birds with one stone because each member is wanted for numerous doings. This gang has operated under the direction of Lester Cornwell, alias "The Texas Shorthorn," for many years and many daring robberies have been pulled. Milo Creviston and Wayne Hollet are the muscle and brains of the outfit. It is nothing for them to shoot down four or five policemen in getting one deal over the Creviston-Hollet route. This gang is kept going by the handit queen, Kathryn Housley, alias "Wilicat Sue of the Suburbs." Many escapes have been made due to the saws and soap slipped in by "Wilicat Sue."

The Losing Jinx

The great day was almost here, though to the basketball squad of Belmont High School the prospects seemed far from great, bunch of gritty, never-say-die fighters though they were. Going through the season with very few victories and many defeats, their chance in the county tournament was considered pretty slim and many a former "easy-mark" sneered, and calmly defeated this new and undeveloped, though husky, team. Captain Wally Marks, the only veteran, had full confidence in the courage and grit of his teammates, but as to victory over such teams as Wayne, Chrysler, and Bailey High Schools, he didn't believe in fooling himself and his team along into considering it an easy job, though he was neither quitter nor coward.

Coach Bob Dale, who also trusted in his team's spirit and fight, knew, though he didn't say so, that only a miracle of tournament basketball fervor, which sometimes grips a struggling team and carries it to victory, could give his team the greatest honor possible in the county—supremacy in the basketball field.

Dale, who had coached many a Belmont team to victory in the days when every school feared "The Blue and Red Streaks," and all fell before the mighty shooting of such veterans as Hawkins, Smith, and Haskell, had lived in Belmont many years, and there his only child and daughter, Shirley, whose mother had died shortly after her birth, had grown to the romantic age of sixteen, with each year of her life, as she developed in beauty, love for her father, and sharing in his sorrow as slowly the winning teams of Belmont were replaced by fighting but losing squads, meaning more to her that the teams should again feel the thrill of conquest.

When her father would come home from a game with another defeat added to the list, she would put her arms around his neck and, fondly kissing him, exclaim, "Oh, daddy, I so wish the team could win, if only to give them confidence in themselves. They have it in them, every man is a gritty fighter, but it seems the losing jinx, which has been gradually growing on Belmont, has fastened its talons too deeply in them to be loosened! If they could only break its hold, and once again win a tournament, their confidence in themselves would be restored, and, with their ability and fight, once more Wayne, and Chrysler, and Bailey would pale and fairly tremble when we stepped on the floor led by Wally! Daddy, the tournament is next week: can't you do something for them?"

"Shirley, dear," said Coach Dale, "it is beyond my power to restore the winning streak now lost to my team, but I hope and pray they may regain it in some miraculous way."

Time flew, and the team led by Captain Wally, the idol of the school, faithfully practiced and perfected their plays every night in the gym, and after each practice the coach instructed, corrected, and preached to them until they began to be more confident. Then on Friday night, before the big game on Saturday, as Fate would have it, either luckily or unluckily as you may judge for yourselves, the coach fell down his icy front steps and broke his leg.

Of course, it was out of the question for him to try to travel to Chrysler where the tournament was being held, and so he tried to become reconciled to his lot. But when the team, gritty and almost confident, heard of the coach's accident, their confidence left, though grit and courage remained. The coach was loved and trusted by every man on the squad, and they all needed his helpful warnings and preachings to keep up their fight when they faced Chrysler in the first game of the tourney. Consequently his absence would be a great loss to them, and though the men gritted their teeth and set their jaws, their hearts were sinking as they set out for Chrysler with Coach Dale's parting words ringing in their ears.

Meanwhile, when Shirley heard that her father's accident would keep him from going with his team she was very discouraged and disappointed, because she had so hoped the team could win this year, and, when she met her father's downcast face and dull voice after the squad's departure, her heart set, and fearlessness and courage flashed from her eyes as she said, "Daddy, dear, can you spare me a while? I just have to go to town, but I'll come back and nurse you if you just cheer up and try to be happy." She kissed him, and went from the room.

Outside the door she paused a moment, as if debating to herself, but, with her blue eyes flashing, she ran into her bedroom, crushed a blue tam over her brown hair, put on her suit jacket and grabbing her purse, ran out of the room.

A bus, which she caught on the corner, could take her to Chrysler, a distance of some twelve miles, in about twenty minutes, and, as the game started at two P. M. she would have only five minutes in which to carry out her plan.

She arrived, and bravely paid her fare, but, as she asked a spectator, watching a preliminary game among the crowded and screaming throng in the gym, where the dressing room was, her heart was beating like a sledge-hammer, and only the thought of her father and Wally Marks kept her from turning back.

In the meantime the team had arrived at Chrysler, and were in the gym undressing, during which Captain Wally was trying to cheer his comrades.

"All we got to do, fellows, is to carry out our plays, and fight—fight for every breath that's in us."

"Wally," remarked Slim Nester, his pal, earnestly, "we'll fight wherever you lead us, but, gee!" he ended dejectedly, "I kind-a wish we had Coach here to make his little speech before we go into this game with those devils from Chrysler. Gosh, seems lonesome without it; don't it?"

"I'll say it does; no kiddin'," agreed Red Davis.

Thus, you see, the spirits, though not the fight, in the team were drooping, when in came a boy saying that a messenger from Coach Dale had come with urgent news before the game came off in about five minutes, and desired to see the team.

"Bring him in," said Wally wonderingly and, as the kid was about to object to something, in walked a most feminine looking creature, in blue suit and blue tam.

THE DUNES

With a wave of her hand she dismissed the boy, and pausing, laughed uncertainly; then, flashing her blue eyes at the open-mouthed, amazed team she squared her shoulders, and hastened to say, "Probably you don't know me, most of you, but I do know your captain here," pointing to Wally, "and it seems like I know you all from hearing about you from Daddy. You see I'm Shirley Dale," she added. "Please introduce me, Walter," she said, smiling, while an adorable dimple peeped out in her cheek.

Wally, who did indeed know her and wished to know her much better, felt his heart increase several beats a minute as he received that smile, and said, stumbling a little in his surprise at seeing her and wonder at her errand, "Boys, this is Shirley Dale, the coach's daughter, and," he added, "she is just as gritty and full of fight as his father," at which Shirley blushed, "and Shirley, this is Belmont's basketball team, Red Davis, Slim Nester, Charlie Fox, Dave Skelding, Sam Macy, Vic McFarlane, Fritz Donahue, and Donald Sliker."

"Team," said Shirley, "you may think it silly for a girl to come around and talk to the fellows just before the game, but I guess I'm my father's daughter," with a defiant lift of her adorable chin, "and when he can't be at his post of duty, I ought at least to try to fill it. Squad, in about three minutes you will be facing the tough and almost undefeated team of Chrysler, who, haughtily and too self-confidently, consider you an 'easy mark,' though not so long ago, the glory of Belmont and her unconquerable team was enough to make Chrysler turn green with envy! Team, I tell you," her eyes glowed earnestly and her voice had a pleading note, "you have the ability, the courage, and the spirit of those Belmont warriors of former days, and you can, with one hand tied behind you, defeat any team in the state if you make up your mind to do it!" She clenched her fist, and struck her palm with it. "All that is the matter with you is that you are in the hold of an abominable losing jinx, that thinks it can break you, but I know and daddy knows that with your grit you can beat the Devil himself, and nobody can stop you, but you must fight; do you hear me? Fight! Fight for the sake of your coach who is at home praying for you; fight for yourselves; fight for the glory of Belmont, whose praises rang through the whole state at one time—make them ring as they never rang before; fight to defeat the jinx that has its hold on you; fight for any possible reason, but fight! and when you think you can fight no longer, 'buckle right in with a hit of a grin,' and you'll do the thing which everyone thinks cannot be done, but you must fight!"

As she breathed these words of encouragement, her whole demeanor changed; her soul was in her eyes; she put it all in her voice, and, as each man heard it ring vibrant and low, they thrilled with courage and confidence, and each felt as he looked at her so enraptured in the glory she saw for them and so counting on them to bring honor to Belmont, his heart swell and his whole soul become transformed, as if he had nothing else to fight for; the praise of such a fighter seemed ample reward for which to battle.

When she had finished her little speech, she shook the hand of each man, and, with the picture of her earnest and trusting face and defiant blue eyes in his mind he felt that no team in the United States could defeat them.

With a final word of Belmont's former glory and countless victories over Chrysler, and of their responsibility to regain her supremacy, they ran out on the floor.

Almost in a trance, and with her words ringing in their ears, they faced the confident Chrysler team. Unconscious of anything around them but their fellow-teammates, opponents, and the basket, with Wally leading, they began such a fast and dashing attack that they had their opponents, for a few moments, actionless and spellbound, so unexpected was it. In ten minutes, with each man fighting for all he was worth, and against an almost undefeated team, they had piled up six points. At the end of the half, however, the score was six to five.

With a few more words of praise and encouragement from Shirley, they took the floor again, but, fight as they might, they only gained two more baskets, making their score ten to nine, as Chrysler had also added two baskets to the score. Then, through a foul by Slim, Chrysler was allowed a free throw, which they made, tying the score! Each man of Belmont set his teeth, used all his fight, and battled, but could not gain a point; however, they did not give their opponents the opportunity of adding to their score.

Almost at the end of the game, in the last minute and one-half of play, a Chrysler man fouled, and Wally was allowed one free throw. Through the gym, which had hitherto rung with shouts of encouragement at the score and playing of Belmont, an absolute silence fell, and every breath in that vast throng was held. As Wally crossed the floor to the ball, he uttered a short prayer for help, and then thought of Shirley and her words, and, taking the ball, with the utmost confidence, as if there in the hoop lay the losing jinx which had so relentlessly pursued Belmont, he shot it directly through the ring, never doubting the outcome, so sure was he of the result. "I did it for Belmont and her," he thought, and, as his wildly enthusiastic schoolmates raised him and his teammates on eager shoulders, he felt his soul thrill with victory—the long-lost but now regained victory of Belmont!

When Shirley, who had been in the dressing room during the game, not daring to watch for fear of giving way to her feelings, heard the results from Wally's own lips, her eyes filled with tears and her voice choked with happiness. Finally she said, "I knew you had it in you. You've not only defeated Chrysler, but you've broken the spell of the losing jinx, team!"

Sure enough, with a power born of their taste of victory and its thrill, which gripped their hearts and held them in a spell undefeatable, they conquered every team they met, sometimes having to fight till they thought they could never go on, but always remembering Shirley and her words, until at last the dearly bought honor was theirs, and through the state rang as never before the praises of Belmont and her wonderful fighting, machine-like team in basketball, the king of Indiana sports.

TRUE PURDY '28.

Convinced

"My, how the days do drag," sighed Jane as she flung herself on the lounge and carelessly motioned to her chums to do the same. "This winter does seem to be the longest I have ever endured."

"O, Jane," sighed Alice, "I do wish you enjoyed skating as the 'gang' does, then winter would be real sport."

"Well—skating is fun for a while, but it doesn't last. Just think how much more fun there is in the summer time. There's loads of excitement, but now—nothing but skating up and down the pond and freeze. I want real action."

"Swimming is great, but, of course, you are a good swimmer and look what you did last summer," said Agnes. "Taught all of us how to swim, passed your life saving test, were assistant beach patroller, and then toppled it off by saving June Allison's life!"

"This isn't getting us anywhere," laughed Jane, as she arose and stood before her friends, "possibly I am one-sided, but anyway I hope summer comes."

As the quartet walked across the room, Sal spoke with a quiet determination in her voice.

"Well, girls, we have still about two weeks of skating weather to show Jane how wrong she is. Let's do it."

With this final vow they sauntered to the McLean dining room where Jane's mother, a stately lady, greeted them for an informal dinner.

This group of four girls had been great pals for three years, and this was their fourth. Agnes Carlson and Jane McLean had moved to Madison when they were "freshies" and it was at this time they became acquainted with Alice Mauk, an orphan who lived with her wealthy uncle, and Sally Danner. Now all were "sedate seniors." Each girl was interested in the same sports except this last; skating could not be worked out. No one knew what the cause could be, for she had skates and often came out but merely to please, for one could see she had no fun.

Several days later, Sal came into the McLean library saying, "Oh, girls; you know how the City Board is going to give a prize for the high school pupil in Madison who accomplishes the most noteworthy deed of the season. Well—some say Steve Dailey is going to get it. Last night he put in the alarm and then went back and warned the whole flat of the fire in the basement. They say he probably saved two lives, for old Mr. and Mrs. Andrew would never have got out in time."

At such news, the little circle was greatly excited, for Steve was a dear friend and his luck was their happiness.

"This prize will be given two weeks from Saturday. We'll all have to be out," exclaimed Jane.

During the following week a very cold spell came on, so making it excellent skating weather. One night the girls persuaded Jane to go with them, "just for luck."

Madison's skating pond was in a park and consisted of a lengthy rink with curves and windings in and out the trees and shrubs. On a far side was a water hole, but this was always lighted by an arc lamp just near it. On this particular night the park was crowded with youths who carried or wore skates.

After the girls had skated about for some time, Steve came toward them and introduced his Cousin Bob, from Canada.

"Howdy, gang. Meet my Cousin Boh Morely from Canada, and is he the skater? Say, the boys are rounding up a bunch for a race around the park five times. First one in gets a real treat. Want to come?"

The general comment was in the affirmative and so all skated up to the starting point.

About forty young people were ready to put off. When the whistle blew the race was on.

Around the first time Boh Morely and Arthur Matt were ahead; the second time Bob was a few feet ahead; and the third time they were even.

Now Arthur, although the son of the steel magnate, was not well liked. He was an excellent skater, but when he saw someone that equaled him he was angry and tried his best to win.

On the third round they had left the others far behind and as they sped by the curve leading to the water hole, Arthur thought of a plan. When they had again come near on the fourth round, Arthur swerved and cut in on Bob's path, so making him turn and rush straight into the icy waters, and Arthur sped ahead.

Jane had dropped out after three rounds and had said she would join them on the next turn. As she sat on the park bench she saw this trick, but was too late to warn.

Instantly she skated as near as possible and spoke: "Bob, hold out a while and I'll get a rope." Her agile eyes had spied a cord near the hench and so she grasped it with nimble fingers and skated back. She now tied it to a nearby tree and seeing that it was fairly long she slung it to the boy, almost numb from the cold waters. Again she spoke:

"Try to pull yourself up as best you can while I go for help."

For once she forgot herself and skated for all there was in her. She neither thought of cold or what she was doing, for her main object was to get to the crowd. Finally she saw them near the goal on their third time, and sped along all the faster. A group thought they saw a figure racing as if mad and thought it was Bob, for Arthur was even with them, and on his last round. As the figure approached, to their surprise they found it to be Jane. As soon as she had panted her news to them she again raced ahead, passing the stragglers and even Arthur, who looked aghast. When the crowd had gathered at the hole, Jane had already pulled shivering Bob from the water.

The next day as all stopped at Steve's to inquire how Bob was, they were glad to see how happy he was as usual and now he thanked Jane in his pleasing boyish fashion.

Mrs. Dailey asked all to remain for luncheon and as they were enjoying a fine spread the messenger boy brought the following note to Jane:

Dear Miss Jane:

We wish to inform you that we have decided that you have won our seasonal prize, not only for valor, but for your speed in last night's race. Please stop at the Chairman's office any time and receive your reward.

Sincerely,

City Board.

After this, the entire house was in a jubilant confusion. As soon as Jane had again resumed her usual appearance, she spoke happily to her chums and said:

"I love skating as well as swimming any day. My—I wish winter was just starting."

Reminiscence

Upon the shore of Lake Michigan a solemn son of Nature stands. Silently, with bow and arrow in his hands, he looks about him, deaf to the music of the waves. Nor does he see the setting sun in all its beauty. He does not hear the enchanting notes of the birds.

Filled with emotion, this great bronze stolid one sees only the falling of the forest and in its place the towering buildings—the work of these new strange people.

Bridges span the rivers, and on iron rails huge monsters fly past with thundering roar.

Away in the distance he sees a living thing on the water; hears the moaning of its engines; hears its hell.

A roaring sound from the sky startles him, causing him to look upward and behold! a great bird-like thing soars over him.

Then, when the sun has set and darkness creeps over everything, a thousand lights spring out over the land.

The silent one bows his head and departs, leaving these invaders of his native home with their thriving city, their industries, churches and schools.

The spirit of the Redman seeks rest.

Indiana's Dunes

The Dunes!—

Where countless gold and silver moons
Have cast their phosphorescent light
Thru' the cool, blue-black sky of night
Upon the gold and silver ripples
Of the sand.

The Dunes!—

Drifting, some of them,
Pushed by the wind, a giant hand,
Forming walls of silv'ry sand;
Covering firs, so just their tops
Are seen shimmering—
Green needles! White sand!

Drifting banks—steep, smooth and airy clean;
Children gay are sometimes seen
Tumbling down these sandy slants.
Oak leaves shimmer, willows dance
In the lake's breeze—all adding laughter
To the joy of Nature.

The Dunes!—

Mottled Dunes; pine trees paint
The rolling ridges black and green.
Fertile valleys of the Dunes
Were not dug by giant spoons
But were hollowed—Nature did it—
May men-to-come never rid it
Of its work of centuries.

DONORS

D. B. GILLESPIE

OUR "Donors' Page" was substituted this year for the advertising section at the suggestion of friends and supporters who felt that the actual commercial value of such advertising did not justify the soliciting of funds for that purpose. A direct donation by friends who feel that such a book as this is a credit to our school and to the City of Hammond seems to be a more fitting method of financing the enterprise. The response has been most gratifying, and we appreciate thoroughly the help of those whose names appear on the following pages, without which help this book could not have been published. It is our special request that each subscriber read carefully the list of names on our "Donors' Page."

A. L. SPOHN,
Principal.
